Life at La Sierra is reflected in many facets of campus activities. The image of La Sierra is seen in scholastic, religious, social endeavor; the spirit of La Sierra is exemplified in lives of a dedicated faculty; the aims and hopes of students are demonstrated in their scholastic plans, their friendships, their world travel. These pictures reflect the life of your college—La Sierra—and symbolize the theme of your Meteor staff of 1964.

A moving, pulsing sea of heads—students reflecting the spirit of La Sierra as they endeavor to challenge, grasp and hold the ideals and concepts of higher education.

This spirit of La Sierra College—instilled on that first registration day—those endless lines of waiting, the aching feet and blur of faces, students checking and rechecking the signatures needed for the stack of IBM cards which dictate their study for the ensuing months.

Assimilation into college life begins for the freshmen with the traditional Orientation. Faculty and upper classmen direct discussions of collegiate life as freshmen ponder and question the social, spiritual, and scholastic mores of campus living and organization. Secondary school concepts of life are exchanged for collegiate views and questions—searching philosophies, evaluating standards—reflecting patterns of life.

As carefree days of freshmen anticipation are replaced with the quickening pace of collegiate endeavors, So also the beanie, symbol of newness, fades as the role of new scholar grants a permanent niche at La Sierra. Study—important facet of college life—is portrayed by the intense activity of students in the library. Here are reflected scenes of active concentration, passiveness and respite, or wistful attempts at osmosis of learning.

Collegiate life, not always filled with book-learning, pauses for reflection as the magic moments of a misty evening are shared with a companion—life is enriched with the completeness of friend meeting friend.

Pausing for reflection in meditative moments at close of day, students share the quiet spirit of worship.
The whispered words of a friend in prayer, the echoing chords of vesper music, the still small voice of the Master Teacher—images of Christian living which are reflected and carried beyond church walls by dedicated students and faculty.

The La Sierra image—symbols of serenity blend with patriotism as students and faculty unite to mourn with the nation—moods of seriousness and dedication as they reflect citizenship and loyalty to their country.

These paths of learning, lined with graceful palms and rolling lawns, reflect the graciousness of Southern California.

The collegiate year—demanding, rewarding, challenging—glimpses into all facets of life as student meets, lives with, and grows to understand and appreciate fellow student. Christian principles become practical, friendships grow, experience teaches many lessons.

Roommates become teammates in college sports—physical fitness and teamwork reflect school spirit.

Grueling semesters season the students—broadening, enriching them with lessons which develop anxious, eager, questioning freshmen into calm, confident seniors. Prepared for a role in society, will they reflect La Sierra as they step beyond its campus; will they reflect their collegiate experience?

LA SIERRA COLLEGE

To Dr. Ralph Koorenny:

As a professor, serving the college as chairman of Business Administration, helpful and cooperative in roles of advisor and instructor.

As a counselor, greeting with warm handshake and engaging smile, students in office and home.

As a former ASLSC advisor, supporting student activities, coordinating field trips, directing discussion groups.

Because of dedication and service, because of ability to mirror the spirit of La Sierra College, the 1964 Meteor is dedicated to you, Dr. Ralph Koorenny.

The Student Voice

Deliberations, evaluations, discussions—many minds in accord form decisions which influence the present and future of the student body. Campus issues and controversial areas of collegiate life are discussed and resolved through the bodies of the Senate and the Student Faculty Council. Students and faculty express opinions, explain policies, and carry out decisions concerning administrative and student problems—a common goal of cooperation.

Policies, standards, and decisions are evaluated by the student board at La Sierra. Office candidates, budget plans, and publication standards are reviewed and discussed for student government action. Levels of efficiency and smooth operation of collegiate activities are determined by the aims and goals of student government.

The Pause that Relaxes

Relaxation, games, music, TV—the student center functions as a center for informal student activities and entertainment. Providing a relaxing background for student talent, club programs, or class activities, individuals or groups meet together often for an evening of enjoyment. The student center, relocated next year, will serve as a combination student center-snack shop in the lower cafeteria area.

Newsworthy Issues

Campus life, printed weekly by the college Criterion staff, presents a picture of college events and news. Leads, interviews and articles are only the beginning as editing, rewriting and proofing are completed before the copy goes to press. La Sierra's

Image

A college yearbook—reflecting the memorable activities of the collegiate year—is a treasured volume of pictures and memories. Behind the scenes, the staff puts in many hours of labor and time. Endless portraits and group pictures must be taken, miles of film developed, and the darkroom becomes a second residence. Emerging from the active hub of the Meteor office—coordinated by encouraging, prodding editors—the yearbook at last develops as a memoir of an eventful collegiate year.

Grinning staff check humorous pictures and comments in the student identification booklet.

The student identification booklet, an annual campus directory, is humorous and helpful. Published during registration, the well-thumbed booklet serves as identification in many situations, and is a humorous and informative guide for students and faculty.

"Of course we work hard—between breaks!" as the staff pauses from the feverish activity of publishing the student ID booklet.

Christian Fellowship

Collegiate Christian League—Seated: Bob Reeves, Judy Walcker, Liz Nilsen. Standing: Jack King, Fred Orr, Bailey Gillespie, Frank Cornwell.

Collegiate Christian life at La Sierra is promoted in many activities. The CCL, an ASLSC organization, plans and coordinates the religious activities of the school year. A separate area of religious activity is organized through the Ministerial Fellowship, under the direction of the Department of Religion. Evangelism and missionary endeavor form a part of the collegiate life.

Koinonia Officers: Gordon Bietz publicity, John Brunt, president, Jim Hooper, vice president, Kok-Lian Lim, secretary, Rick Rice, chaplain, Carol Chanslor, treasurer.

Sabbath School Superintendents: Rae Lee Figuhr, Rick Rice, Dr. Frederick Hoyt, sponsor, Tom Arnston, Carol Jean Nelson.

Witnessing

Programs, discussion groups and other activities are planned for the Sabbath School, temperance and colporteur clubs. Student support and organization of religious activities is a definite part of collegiate life at La Sierra College. Personal experiences and ideas are incorporated in the devotional services that are prepared and presented for the student audience.

Temperance Club: Gary Case, publicity, Bob Boney, vice president, Dorothy Rumpel, secretary, Curtis Bradford, president, Curtis Church, treasurer.

Scheming Plans...

Sigma Phi Kappa—symbol of collegiate women's activity—reflects the anticipation of Open House and Luaus, the generosity of Christmastime and enthusiasm of projects, the thrill of "adopting" Korean orphans—reflecting the satisfaction of active participation in a collegiate program.

On the south side of campus Mu Beta Kappa, the men's club—enthusiastic, active and expressive—find extracurricular enjoyment in outings, programs, films and social activities.

Teaming Events

The inviting springtime of Southern California, stirs the scholars, and thoughts of relaxation and fun are exchanged for thoughts of study as the SPK and MBK clubs plan leisure activities for a springtime mood.

Carefree, happy students, off for the beach or mountains, herald the coming of spring with active, eager plans and adventurous activities.

Second Semester SPK Officers: Sheila Kandt, vice president; Linda MacArthur, secretary; Kay Mattox, president; Bonnie Porter, pastor; Phyllis Behrens, treasurer.

The Active Life

Someone told the freshmen to dress their best . . . so they did!

. . . And you think this is bad!

. . . and this, my friends, is immediate disciplinary action.

Activities—shifting scenes of orientation, registration, class organization and field trips—activities of the collegiate life progress and develop as each student finds his niche.

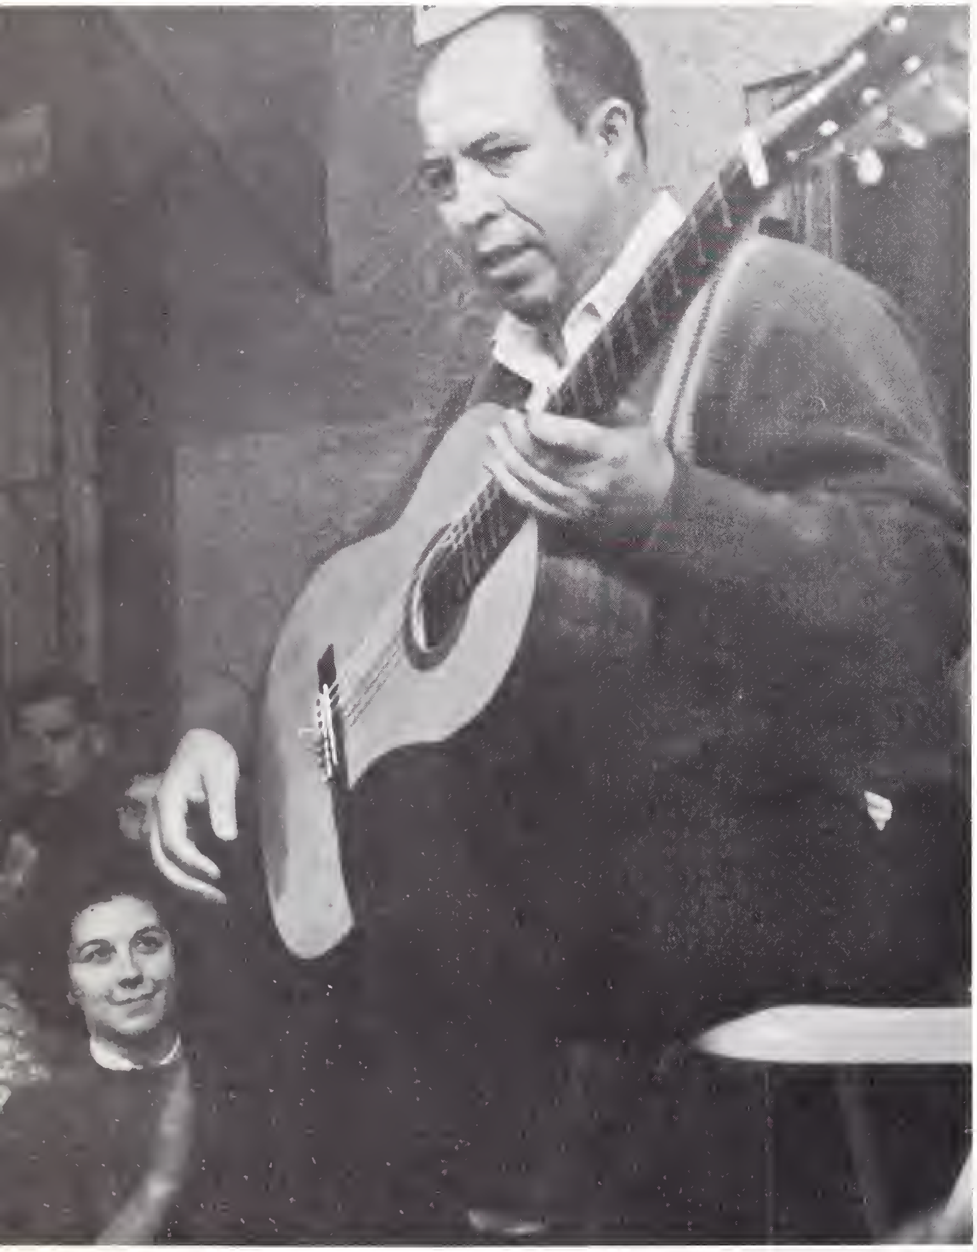
The eager freshmen—discussing, questioning and absorbing collegiate advice and patterns at La Sierra—gradually mature to the status of calm, confident, prepared seniors.

The Sophomore class holds a caucus in upper HMA to choose class officers.

Sharon points out the noon menu to Judy, Buddy and Sharon.

While Doug Ermshar relaxes in his desert abode, members from the Biology Club discuss the biological processes of sleep.

Retreating Collegians



Sounds of Old Spain lull listeners into a state of relaxation after the gaieties of Saturday night activities. Linda Veverka approvingly applauds Mr. Filipe Perez.

Retreating—an annual flight pattern of students and faculty for a weekend of relaxation and recreation—an ASLSC activity with Camp Cedar Falls as the destination. Brisk hiking, stimulating devotional services and active campfire programs were the featured activities of the annual weekend "break."

All is calm . . . and with the sunrise comes another day.

"It's just a small cut," says Gary Lewis to Darla Edwards. A minor drawback to a perfectly wonderful weekend.

Deannie Reiswig and Bob Schoberth show varied reactions to the "help yourself" method practiced at Cedar Falls.

Elder Jerry Davis opens the weekend theme "Courage" at the Friday evening vespers program.

Advise and Consent

The roles of advisor, instructor, friend, and host are reflected in the life of the faculty member as he meets the student and his problems and interests in the intellectual climate of the collegiate life and activities.

Students informally visit at faculty home parties.

Important college issues are presented and discussed at the President's Council.

Teachers and administrators listen attentively as future plans are outlined in faculty meeting.

Thanksgiving Feast

Horns of Plenty, a delicious entree, and candlelight warmly welcome fathers.

Sons fete fathers in the MBK-sponsored Father-Son Banquet, an occasion featuring the Thanksgiving theme with candlelight and music. The food and entertainment, planned by the men of MBK, brought memories of former collegiate occasions as they paid a tribute to their fathers.

"Would you like a third helping of dessert?" Marilyn Skinner asks Winfield Hill as Janet McGill patiently holds a tray.

Jay Baldwin nostalgically recalls how he "Left his heart in San Francisco."

Armando Vega performs a straight leg shoot through on the sidehorse.

Chula Vista Pathfinders demonstrate drill team maneuvers.

Vega gracefully executes a handstand on the still rings.

Coordinating Skills

Kilts, Pipes and drums . . . Riverside Scottish Highlanders entertain students at "The Scottish Tattoo."

Kay von Achen skillfully steadies herself on the balance beam.

Paul Roesel, Don Phillips, Dave Falconer and Mike McDonough muster courage for the parallel bars.

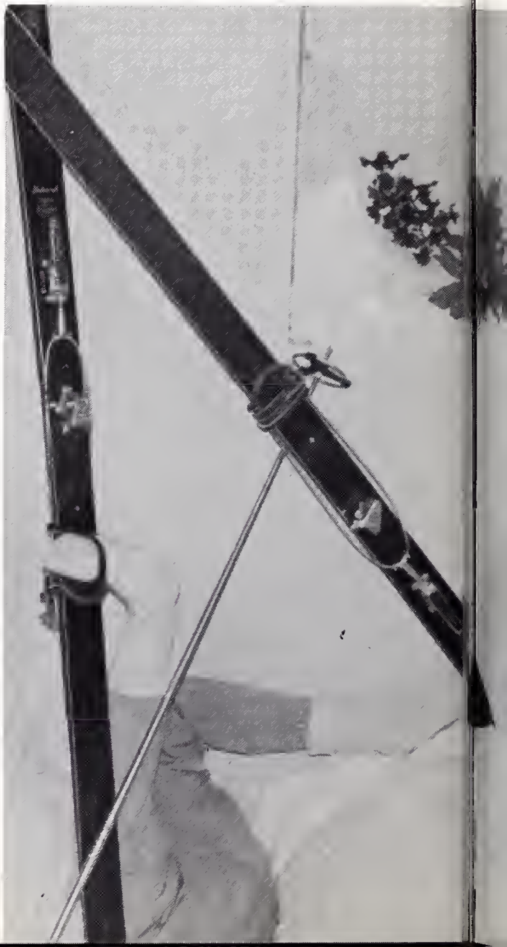
Scottish bagpipes ushered in the annual Gymkana production, featuring coordination and balance in performances of troupe members and guest performers. Narrator Dr. Tarr, with the Scottish bagpipe background, provided the setting for the annual Physical Education production. Also sponsored by the Physical Education Department this year was the performance of a Swedish gymnastic team this spring.

SPK Open House—magic moments of reverse dating as dormitory women escort MBK men and faculty through "the seasons"—theme of Angwin and Gladwyn Halls.

SPK, biannual hostess, featured the first Thanksgiving as the program theme to begin the evening. Rooms, halls and parlors, meticulously cleaned and arranged, received comments and appraisals from the touring guests and hostesses.

"Tom, don't you dare tell us that our shoe buckles aren't 'in' in California!" says "Woody" while Liz John, Jerry Case and Bob Herr come to his defense.

"Thou La Sierra fellows are 'wampum'."



The "Surprised Skier" lands upside down in "No Man's Land."

'Tis the Season...

"But Charlie, you cooked the turkey," says exasperated Tom Smith to Winston Bradley.

Ginger Burns and Walt Lancaster listen in as Santa Claus relates the story of "Pocahontas" to a fascinated admirer—one of the special features in the Winter Section of Angwin.

The Christmas Season

The "Light of the World" has come . . .

The college Christmas tree, a traditional Christmas symbol at La Sierra, is yearly lighted as a welcoming token of the Christmas season.

The Candlelight Concert, featuring a candlelit choral procession, Christmas music with orchestral accompaniment, presented Handel's Messiah in the La Sierra College church this year. The 130-voice choir and guest soloists were directed by Professor Moses Chalmers in the rendition of the Christmas oratorio.

Parties, programs, and happy moods all reflect the holiday spirit at La Sierra.

Mr. Moses Chalmers directed choir and orchestra in the dress rehearsal for Handel's "Messiah."

The faculty's yearly Christmas party is a tradition of Christmas week.

"For unto us a Son is given . . ." anthem of a spirit— the spirit of Christmas.

SPK Fetes Children

Holiday Cheer

Caroling coeds from Angwin descend La Sierra Hall steps as Kay Mattox directs "'Tis the Caroling Season."

An anxious throng presses close as John T. Hamilton verifies judges' decision.

Bailey Gillespie modestly accepts, on behalf of the village students, the congratulations of Calkins' director, Bob Herr.

One hundred and twenty-seven matches ignite as Calkins choir boys offer their interpretation of "Deck the Halls."

The sound of "Silver Bells" fills the campus as Carol Natoni leads Gladwyn Hall freshmen.

La Sierra—transformed into a winter wonderland by the annual Carol Sing—reflected a Christmas scene of "snow," candles, robes and winter attire of enthusiastic student and faculty participants. Happy thoughts were mirrored as the Christmas mood pointed to the coming holiday exodus.

Brave faculty contingent follow Professor Hamilton through "The Night Before Christmas."

Santa Claus Is Coming to Town sing Corky Voyles and the men of MBK.

The Christmas Exodus

Bailey Gillespie and villagers carol to victory, are awarded the 1963 Carol Sing Trophy.

Enthusiasm and excitement typify the college student as parties, programs and activities point to the coming Christmas holidays. Minds weary from studies and activities happily plan for the coming vacation with family and friends in the sunny West or snowy East. Exchanging cheerful greetings, the students emerge from the dormitories, joining the Christmas exodus.

Emerging from the bustling halls of Calkins, Mike Scuka and Steve Shank join the Christmas exodus.

Students pack suitcases, laundry bags and books as Christmas exodus begins.

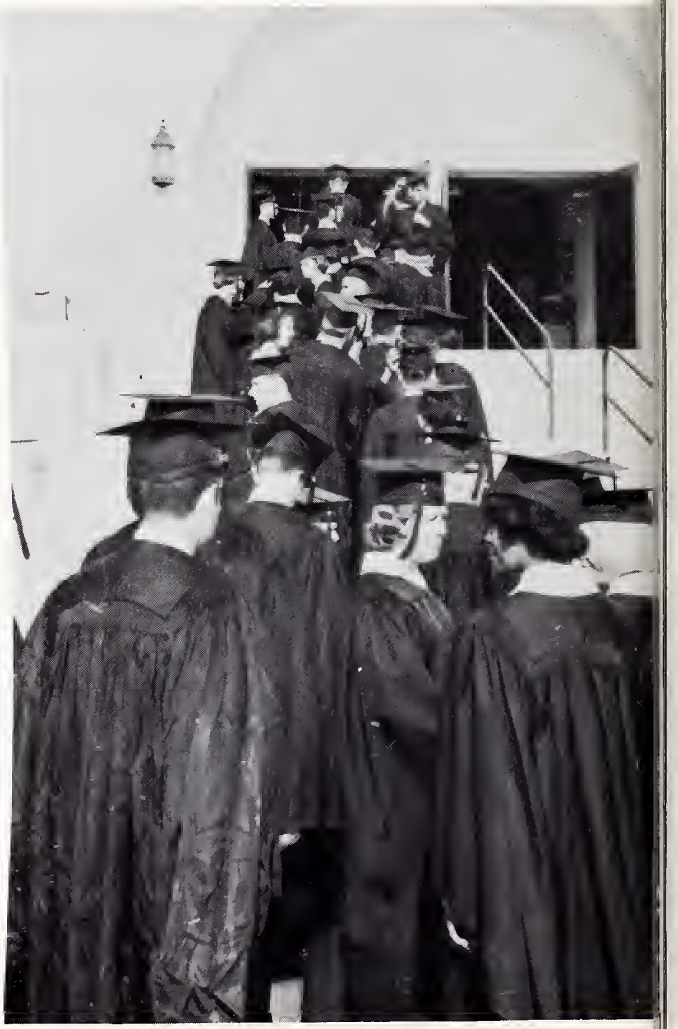
The Seniors Presented

Senior Presentation—symbol of collegiate achievement—featuring 120 seniors in the annual program. Reflecting the ambitions and determinations of every college student, the college senior typifies the "end-product" of every college—an educated youth.

Dr. Albert Hyma inserts humorous incidents into the Senior Address.

College Seniors . . . "How did you do it?" say wide-eyed freshmen.

Senior Presentation Day is but a foretaste of the "Big Day" next spring.



The Religious Emphasis

The La Sierra graduate, with an intellectual and spirtual development, has an informed view of the religious and mission emphasis of the Seventh-day Adventist church. Devotional services and weeks of Religious and Missions Emphasis are facets of the spiritual life of the college student.

Fall Week of Prayer speaker, Dr. Wilbur Alexander, chats with Jim Baker.

Dr. Merlin Neff conducts the La Sierra Church Fall Week of Prayer.

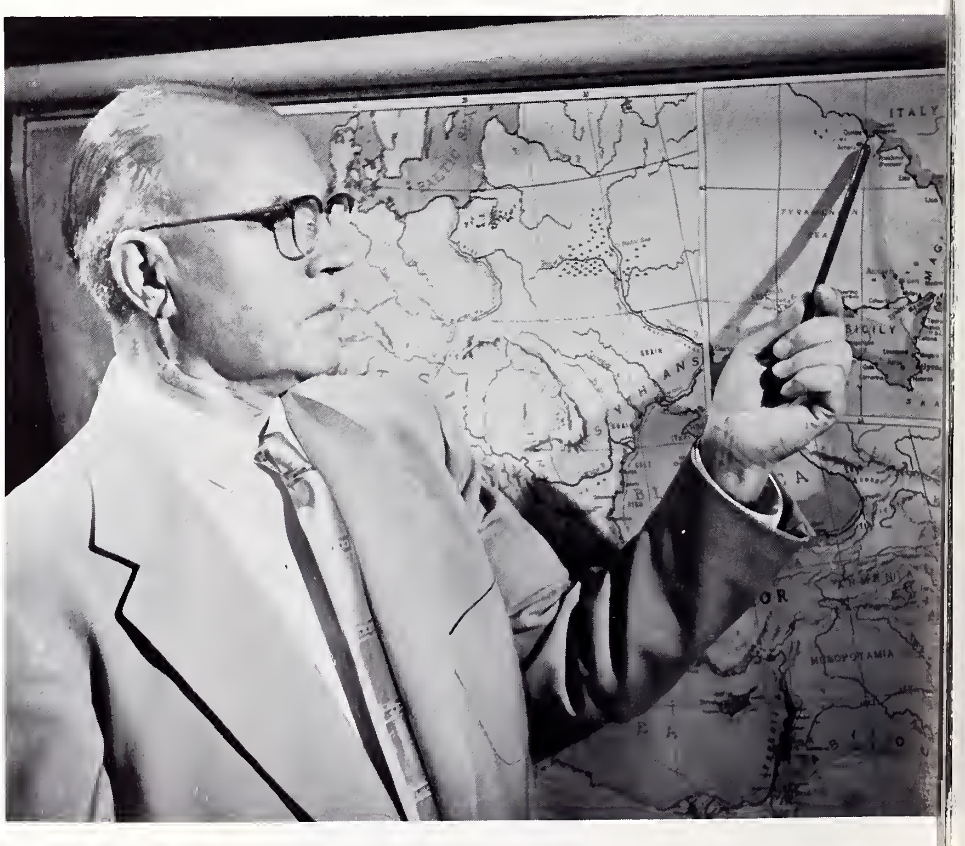
A student pauses briefly before entering Matheson Chapel for Moments of Meditation.

The Spring Week of Devotion at La Sierra was presented by Elder Edward Heppenstall.

Student "Insight" was presented by Week of Devotion speakers including Rick Rice, Bill Aldrich, Bob Reeves, Carol Bailey, Steve Loy and Max Phillips.

The Student Speakers Chair

Assemblies were highlighted this year with four guest lecturers for the Student Speaker's Chair sponsored by students and faculty. Featuring outstanding intellectual and entertaining speakers, the series presented a Cuban Ambassador, a historical cartoonist, an educator, and an American humorist. The enthusiastic response of student audiences reflected the collegiate interest in the assembly lecture series initiated three years ago.



"Re-Education of a Nation" was presented by President William Landeen, Educator, at Student Speaker's Chair assembly.

"J. Wesley Smith and His Influence on History" was introduced to La Sierrans through a Student Speaker's Chair assembly by Burr Schafer, historical cartoonist and lecturer.

Ambassador Surgio Rojas, Ex-Ambassador to Cuba and Great Britain, presented facets of his life as Ambassador in a Student Speaker's Chair lecture.

Dr. Richard Armour, American Humorist, presented an entertaining assembly in his third appearance as a lecturer for the Student Speaker's Chair at La Sierra.

The Gay

Dean Orrison, Dr. and Mrs. Koorenny, Mr. and Mrs. Comm, and David Todd keep the "Nineties" gay as they lead out in some old-fashioned fun.

Gaily bedecked party goers joined enthusiastically in the Gay Nineties theme of the annual progressive party. Games and activities typical of the era culminated in folk songs and group singing over checkerboard cloths and pizza in the college cafeteria. The relaxed students and faculty enthusiastically participated in the evening's activities, reflecting their enjoyment of the Gay Nineties Party.

Too early for Easter, fellows.

Mrs. Parish and Mrs. Butler provide musical entertainment typical of the era.

Barbershop Quartet of Norman Ault, Bailey Gillespie, Darrel Ludders, and Gene Lysinger entertain with selections from the Gay Nineties.

Nineties Reviewed

Progressing to the volleyball court, students join an "old-fashioned" game of volleyball.

Mr. Comm supervises with amusement as Joanne Airey and Steve Loy exchange slippers tied to a rubber band.

The Gymnasts Perform

The youthful Danish troupe performed to an enthusiastic audience at La Sierra in their first American tour. An outstanding gymnastic team, their performance was observed with interest by the many college students enrolled in the gymnastic development program at La Sierra.

Gay Danish life comes to College Hall.

With hoops in hand, Danish women exhibit coordination and balance.

A challenging routine prepares gymnists for their tour abroad.

The Collegiate Scene

Enthusiastic La Sierrans reflect the active life at La Sierra in their participation in lively Town Hall meetings, entertaining receptions, and lively interest in the campus news.

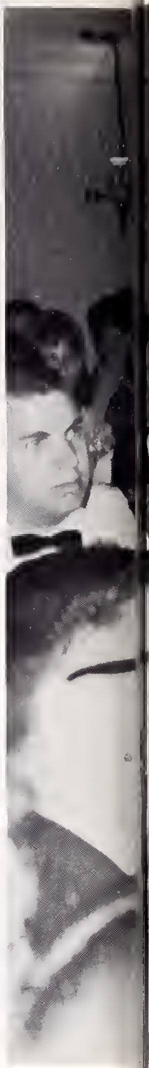
"Here's to our school"—and another lively Town Hall assembly is underway with the LSC pep band.

Campus receptions honoring guest performers at La Sierra are enthusiastically attended by La Sierrans.

Steve Shank joins crowd of avid Critter readers at distribution box.

Gracious Dining

The semi-formal attire of the collegiate guests blended with the elegant atmosphere of the California Room of the Mission Inn in making the annual ASLSC banquet a highlight of the year. Gracious dining, soft music, and charming guests combined in the lovely memories of the 1964 banquet.



Dr. Joan Coggin arrives at juncture in relating her traumatic experience in Copenhagen.

Arabel, Henrietta, and Elizabeth wonderingly observe Cousin Bella's performance during Alpha's presentation of the Victorian drama.

Darold Retzer and Gary Case soberly age 20 years in roles of Bevan and Alfred.

The beautiful love story of the 19th century English poets was portrayed in the three act Victorian drama of the Barrett's of Wimpole Street. Directed by Dr. W. F. Tarr and Professor Don Dick, the two cast presentation was the fifth annual speech production at La Sierra College.

The Barretts of Wimpole Street

Gracious acknowledgment is made by Elizabeth as Beta Cast appears in a curtain call for the Barretts of Wimpole Street.

Henrietta gleefully buckles on Capt. Cook's sword before Elizabeth's startled gaze.

"Unbelievable"—exclaims Doctor Waterlow to Doctor Chambers at recovery of Elizabeth during Alpha performance.

"But Henrietta, would Papa allow it?" questions Elizabeth in Alpha cast rehearsal.

"Oh Harry, isn't she fwightfully fweet," exclaims Cousin Bella to Mr. Bevan in Elizabeth's sitting room.

Doubtful yet loyal, Wilson listens attentively to Elizabeth's elopement scheme.

The Student Center Campaign

Crooning Woody entertains students as student center slave.

Exchanging margarine cubes for soap bars, slave Bob Herr "cleans up" under direction of "master" Jon Airey.

The five-week campaign raising $20,000 to furnish the new student center was successfully completed under the coordination of Bob Herr. Club proceeds, food sales, car washes, and a faculty dinner were some of the fund raising projects for the campaign. Enthusiasm and effort were reflected in the collegiate spirit to reach the goal, as students endeavored to meet the challenges of a successful campaign.

Concert Features

La Sierra College, a chapter of the national Community Concert series, annually sponsors outstanding music groups. Featured this year were the Romeros Duo guitarists, the Norman Luboff Chorale and Brian Sullivan, tenor. Appreciation for fine music is promoted through the musical selections and appearances presented at La Sierra College.

The Romeros Duo, classical guitarists, performed with skill and mastery at the first Community Concert Series of the 1963-64 season.

The 28-voice Norman Luboff Choir making its first appearance in the Riverside area spell-bound the second Community Concert Series audience.

Brian Sullivan, Met Tenor, presented the final concert in the Community Concert Series at La Sierra.

The Fine Arts Promoted

The scene of collegiate appraisal, the campus art gallery features monthly displays and exhibits contributed by students, faculty and local artists. Appreciation of fine art is encouraged at La Sierra, and many types of art are displayed.

Ron Hill and Dorothy Henderson discover aesthetic aspects of sculpture.

The magic of art in stoneware created by Roger Churches.

Paper Kings of the East are displayed during a special paper sculpture show in the La Sierra Art Gallery.

Willard Munger and Noel Johnson interpret painting displayed in the Art Gallery.

Roger Churches, art assistant, evaluates current exhibit in the Art Gallery.

The eye-catching ceramics display is discussed by Pam Shadduck and Karen Altman.

A current exhibit attracts Steve Walls and Frank Ordelheide to campus gallery.

The Sound of Music

Off-campus performances also reflect the enthusiastic participation of students in the music organizations at La Sierra College. Annual tours feature the choir, band, and orchestra groups in many off-campus appearances.

Mr. Nash anxiously scans the horizon for the bus that is to take the La Sierra College Band on one of its many trips.

The sound of music filled College Hall as the combined band-orchestra-choir groups of eight academies and La Sierra College organizations blended in the presentation of the music festival.

The Chamber Singers tour Hollywood with Director Chalmers.

Smiling La Sierrans bring the sound of music in outdoor performance.

Dr. Alonzo Baker, lecturer and political scientist from the University of the Pacific, is honored at a dinner for faculty members and community leaders.

Life at La Sierra

Patterns of life at La Sierra are reflected in the activities of students and faculty in their socializing, entertaining, and dormitory life.

The warmth of the personal chat, the objectivity of the examination period, the stance of the intellectual—facets of the VIP of La Sierra—the college professor.

Challenging, demanding, encouraging—the faculty uphold the spirit of learning—the standards of higher education.

Friendly, courteous, helpful—the faculty devote extra hours to conduct field trips, lead discussions, sponsor clubs, give parties, thus widening the circle of personal interest in their students beyond the classroom.

Their devotion to the development of all phases of life—their example in the professional roles in life—reflected in their shifting roles of instructor, advisor, counselor, teammate, friend. In every facet of life upholding the tradition of a La Sierra College professor—mirroring the spirit of dedication in each division and department of instruction—these are our faculty.

Fabian A. Meier, Ed.D.
President of La Sierra College, 1962-1963
May 6, 1922 to December 30, 1963

William M. Landeen
President

In Memoriam

On the thirtieth December last, the most dreaded of assassins came to our College community and snatched from us our friend, our colleague, and our leader, President Fabian Allen Meier. We had believed fondly that a man so vigorous and athletic, in the full glow of manhood, would remain with us for years to come. This hope we have been denied.

During the less than one score of months that President Meier led our College, all of us came to respect his integrity of character and to admire his capacity for administrative planning and execution. As we listened to him unfold from time to time, before the faculty and student body, his plans for our College, we could only respect his nimble wit, orderly mind, and unfailing good humor. President Meier was a cultured man. He was articulate in speech and had respect for clarity and directness of expression. He thought rationally and objectively and could distinguish quickly between fact and opinion. But his thought was also imaginative and creative. He knew a good deal about the world of nature and the world of man, about present-day culture, but he also knew how to use knowledge with judgment and distinction. His personal standards were high, he constantly emphasized excellence and refused to honor mediocrity or endure shams. His standard of individual behavior was severe and he never hesitated to impress others with his own convictions.

He loved La Sierra College. He planned and worked incessantly for its enlargement and improvement. The ten-year plan which he had developed and had sponsored before the Board of Trustees will remake our campus and will be a lasting tribute to his faith in this college community.

Above all, the purpose of President Meier's emphasis on excellence in all college life and activity is to be sought in his deep devotion to the service of God and His cause. In his concept of life and service, Christian education was not merely a good way to prepare oneself for service for God and humanity, it was the only way. With our President, Christian education was a passion; it was the supreme way to true excellence in life. Christian education alone could bring to young people the maturity, balance, and perspective necessary in successful and meaningful service.

President Meier is gone. Yes, but not quite. He still lives among us in his character and achievements, as well as in our memory of him. And the more we seek to follow the pattern which he gave us of hard work, of judicious thinking, of careful planning, of high degree of excellency in our work, of unreserved devotion to God, and of dedication to our La Sierra College, the better and longer will his contribution remain and our lives be enriched by his example and labor on our campus. And then, we will meet him "in the morning".

Maintenance and Custodian...

repairing--ordering

Keeping the college plant in tiptop shape —replacing light bulbs, changing locks, wiring Christmas trees, and stopping leaks —these are some of the tasks of the maintenance crew. And keeping it presentable is the daily responsibility of the large staff of custodians, who labor with mop and mower across its broad expanse.

John Clough
Superintendent of Construction and Maintenance

Raymond Montgomery
Business Custodian

Ubiquitous mower—essential for an attractive campus.

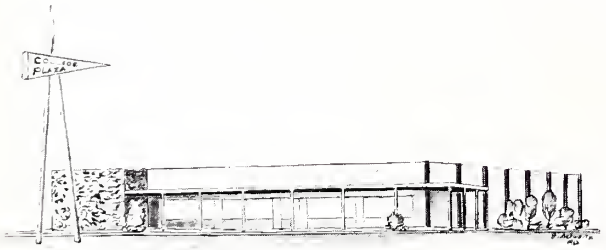
The Ten-Year-Plan

Blueprints of the college plaza are viewed by college administration.

The development of La Sierra College, structured for a ten-year period, was planned and initiated under the leadership of the late President Fabian A. Meier and President William M. Landeen. Tentative dates were proposed for the projects, and completion of the first two projects was announced. Future plans include remodeling or relocation of the library, cafeteria, dormitories and classrooms.

The ten-year plan, a confident look at the future of La Sierra College, reflects the enthusiasm and far-sightedness of the college administration and Board.

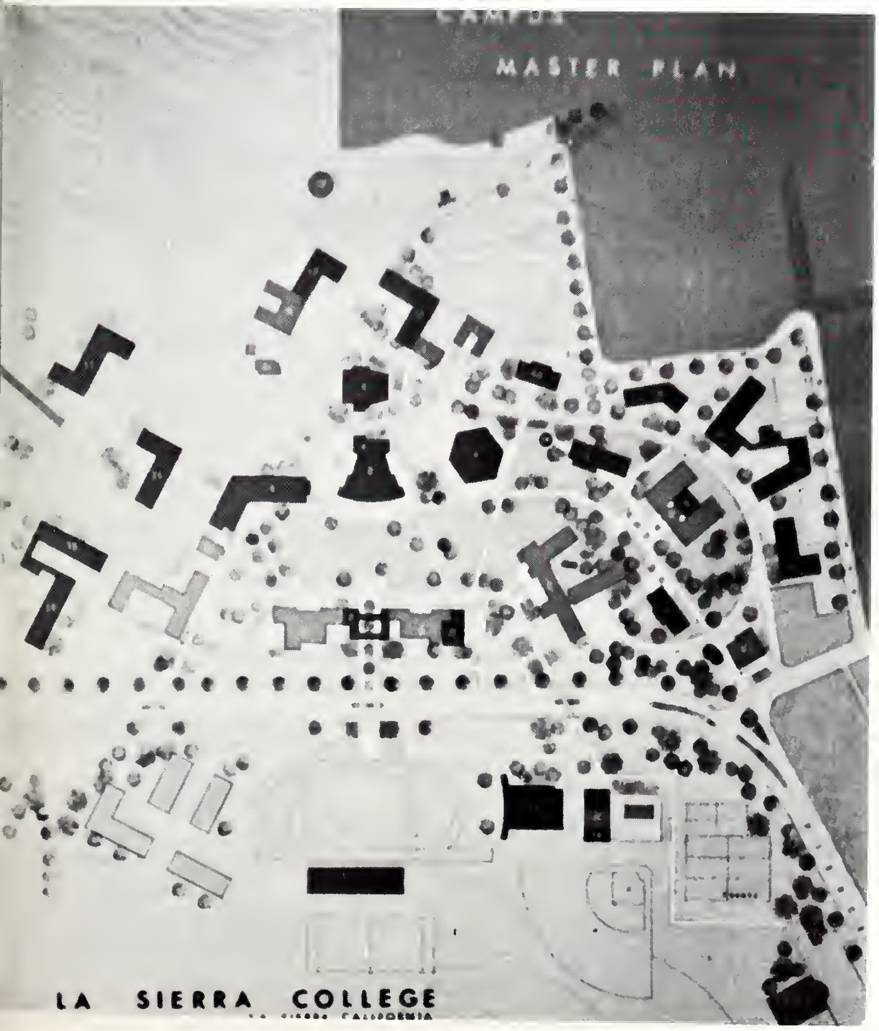
The College Plaza—the first completed project of the Ten-year plan.



Professor Emmerson, college architect, discusses progress of the College Plaza with Mr. Marlin, store manager.

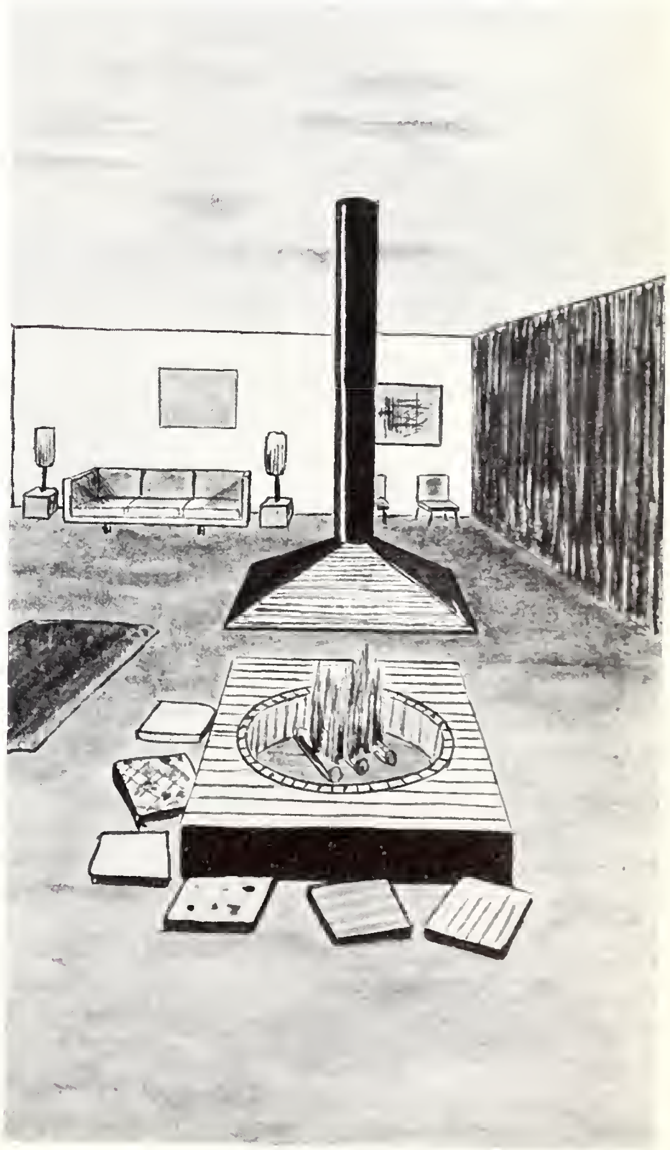
On the move for the new College Market.

Design for a Decade.

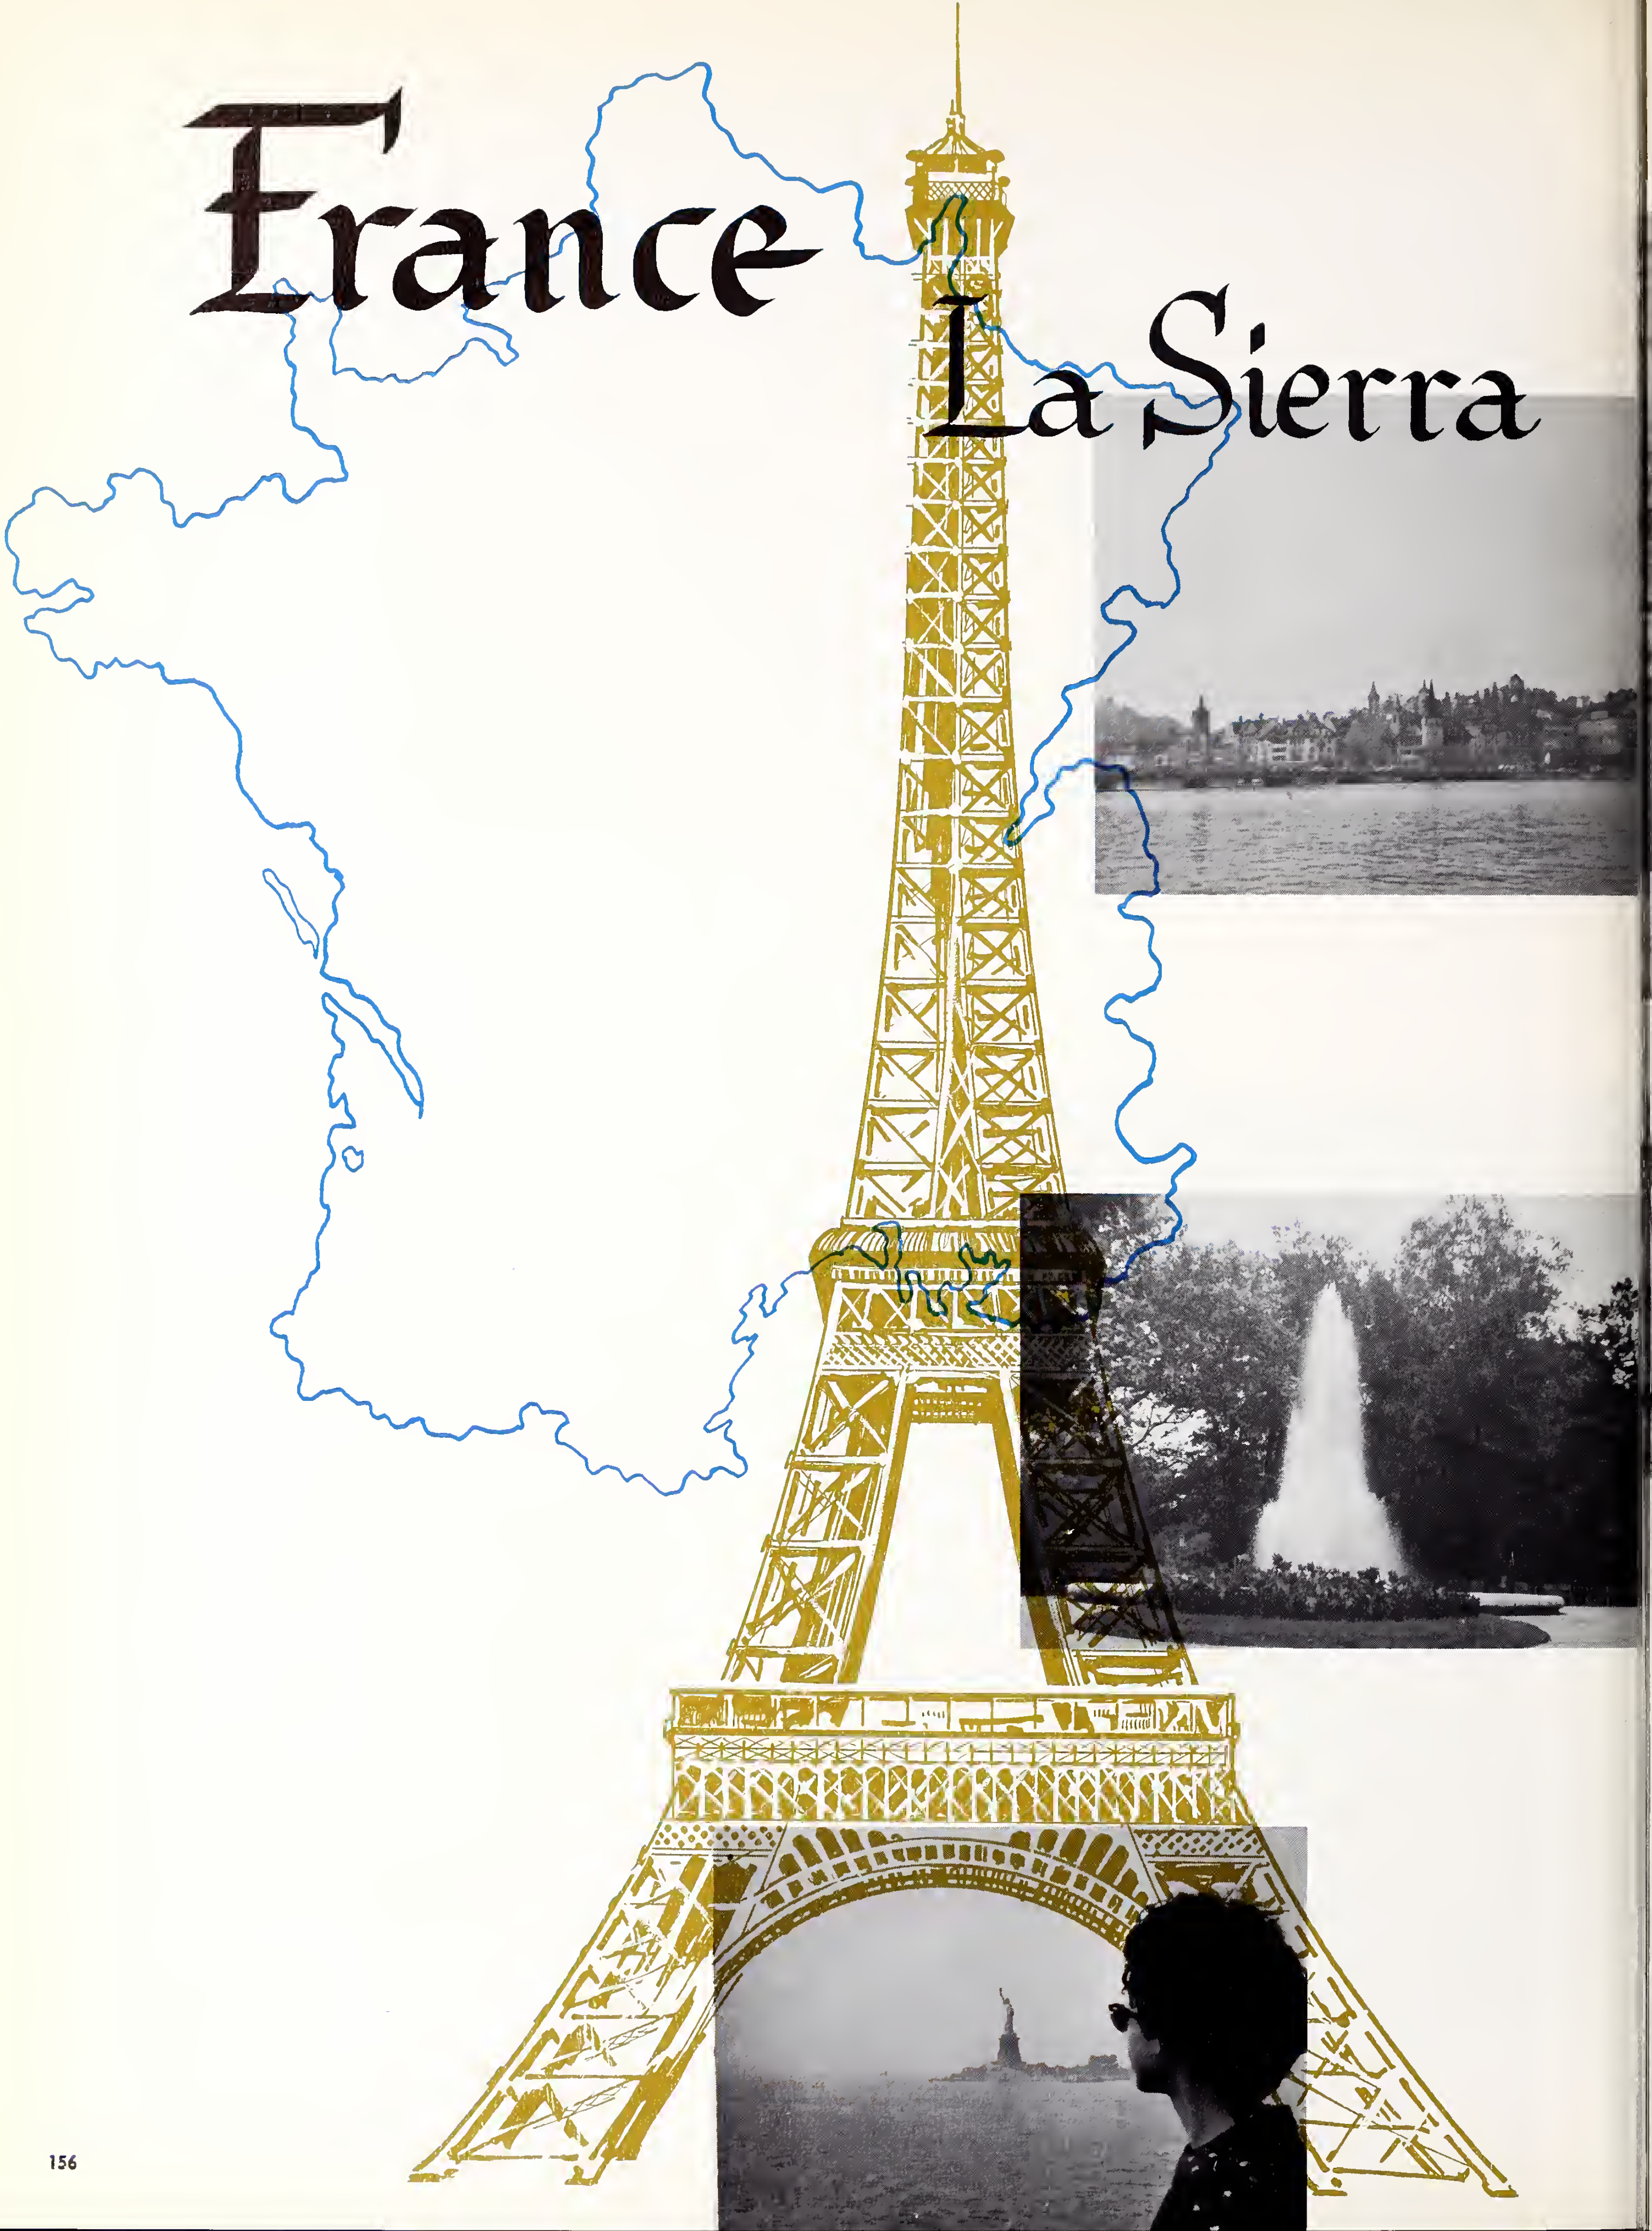


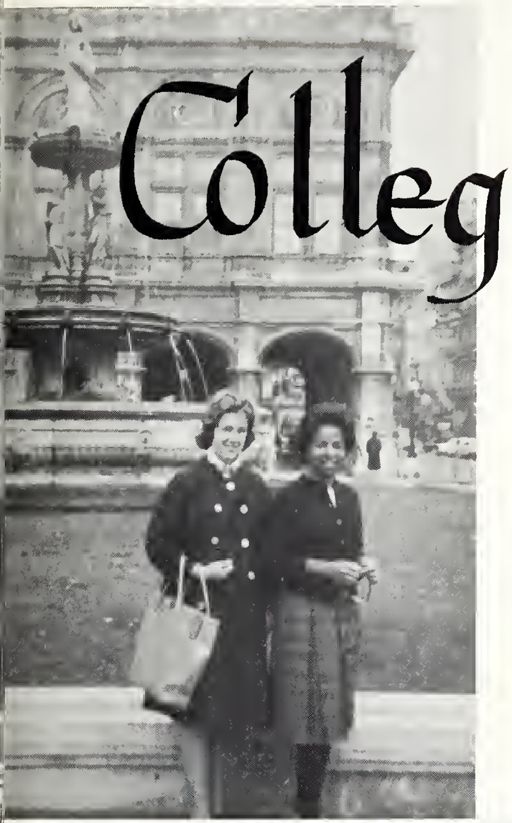
MASTER PLAN
LA SIERRA COLLEGE
LA SIERRA CALIFORNIA

The relaxing aura of the new student center.



France La Sierra





College Abroad

La Sierra Abroad—reflecting a collegiate interest in world travel, language study, and broadening culture in the program initiated last year at Colonges, France. Glimpses at the program reveal classes, dorm parties, field trips—stimulating activities conducted in French as roommates and friends introduce American students to European customs and culture. Shopping excursions, week-end trips, and vacation tours are highlights planned by Charles Rochat, French director. Mailtime, packages, and Criterions bring welcome exchanges of news as Year Abroad students participate in foreign study and travel.

Collonges

France

Studies are forgotten as La Sierrans take a break from the busy life at Collonges to tour in the Switzerland mountains. New scenes, and new friends enhanced the tour for the enthusiastic students. The snowy winter scenes of the European tour were a delightful change for the California students as they added many new experiences to their Year Abroad.

Linda Halstead gives Lillian Garbutt and Diana Yamashiro hints on ice skating at Zermatt.

The Winter Wonderland of the Matterhorn provides scenic backdrop for the enthusiastic group of touring La Sierrans.

The snowy castle atop Mt. Gornergrat provided a scenic destination for the adventuresome tourists.

Weary sight-seers enthusiastically greet French schoolmates at the end of their winter tour.

La Sierrans assemble on steps for rare moment of relaxation as the girls, dressed in French smocks chat over varied experiences of Collonges.

Cooks Diana Yamashiro, Ara Thomas, Linda Halstead, and Sandra Halstead enthusiastically prepare a batch of American popcorn.

Roger Balmer and Diana Yamashiro candidly observe a French hootenanny.

La Sierrans puzzle, then grin in appreciation of French humor.

La Sierra or Collonges—the study hall, an essential phase of the collegiate schedule.

Lillian Garbutt industriously adds her contribution to the dishwashing crew.

La Chapelle, blending with the scenic French landscape, provides the setting for religious services at Collonges.

The hub of campus life, Le Central houses the administration offices, the library, and classrooms.

Sheila Dahl and Jim Bartlett join dinner companions in one of the many French customs.

Tom Hamilton enthusiastically inspects remaining ruins as other tour members exclaim over remaining structures.

The Bible Lands Revisited

Biblical enlightenment and ethnic understanding—highlights of the 1963 summer tour of the Holy Lands. The La Sierra Summer Abroad program, featuring world travel and cultural study, offers college credit and enriching experience for participating students and faculty.

The group pauses at Solomon's Temple overlooking the Mount of Olives.

Relaxed tour members set off for an afternoon of sight seeing before completing their Summer Tour Abroad.

The path becomes rockier for the tourists as the afternoon of sight seeing continues.

Challenging life—searching, pondering, observing the college student is occupied with deadlines, assignments, activities, programs, projects,
responsibilities—always planning for tomorrow,
developing responsibility, finding achievement and satisfaction in work well done, in accomplished goals.

The student—portrayed in scenes of hope, satisfaction, frustration, achievement—somehow learns from experience, and assimilates into his pattern for life those experiences.

Shifting patterns of life at La Sierra—moments of activity, relaxation, and meditation—caught and held in the twilight hour. As the sunset hues and colors deepen at the close of the day, and the close of the year, La Sierra's image—a composite whole—reflects the blending pattern of students, faculty, and campus—a spirit of harmony interwoven with the year of scholastic challenges, spiritual emphasis, and physical development.
The sun—setting on the serenity of a completed year—reflecting a campus where the quest for learning is challenged and met—reflections of the spirit of La Sierra.

The needle on a compass points north. It has been the guide for mariners across trackless seas; for travelers in the desert areas of earth; and for countless others who have needed direction.

It is not the needle on the compass that provides the direction. Neither is it the pivot or the markings on the compass. Rather, it is the attraction of the needle to the north magnetic pole. The needle acts only as an agent.

Man by himself is of little worth. His only value comes as he is directed by the Holy Spirit. Then, there are no limits to what a man can accomplish.

There is need for Spirit-guided men and women--both young and old--in the Southern California Conference. As you plan your career think of the needs of this conference in the most populous and still one of the most rapidly growing areas in the United States.

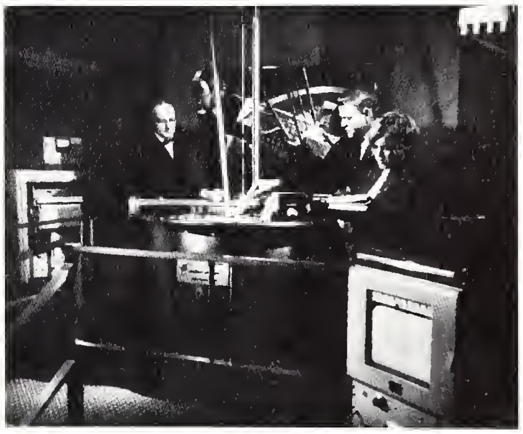
The stature of La Sierra College is attested by the scholarly attainments of its faculty, by the achievements of its graduates in universities and professional schools, notably the Medical School of Loma Linda University, and by the mature fellowship of its scholars in classrooms, convocations, and general campus associations.

LA SIERRA COLLEGE

HOLE MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM

Equipment and excellent techniques of instruction supplement the basic faculty competence in utilizing the full potential of the student.



PHYSICS LABORATORY

Emphasis on the spiritual life, a complete range of curricula, opportunities for student participation in college affairs, access to the rich cultural features of the region — all these and more constitute the extra dividends of enrollment at La Sierra College.

Write to the Academic Dean.
